Why We Collect and Use Workforce Information

We use workforce data to:

- Enable the deployment of a comprehensive picture of the workforce and how it is deployed
- Inform the development of recruitment and retention policies
- Enable individuals to be paid
- Provide support to staff when required (e.g. medical emergencies)
- Maintain high standards of performance from the workforce
- Where we need to perform the contract we have entered into with you;
- Where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests, rights and freedoms do not override those interests.

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), the legal basis/bases we rely on for processing personal information for general purposes are:

(6a) Consent: employees and others who work in the Trust and its schools have given clear consent for us to process their personal data for the purposes indicated above.

(6c) A Legal obligation: the processing is necessary for us to comply with the law.

(6d) A duty to safeguard pupils: the processing is necessary in order to protect the vital interests of the data subject (children); (e.g. we are required to have evidence that staff have DBS clearance).

(6e) Public task: the processing is necessary for us to perform a task in the public interest or for our official functions, and the task or function has a clear basis in law.

The lawful bases for processing personal data are set out in Article 6 of the UK General Data Protection Regulation.

Special Categories of data are set out in Article 9 of the UK General Data Protection Regulation. The Golden Thread Alliance will work within the conditions of GDPR - Article 9 of the UK GDPR:

(9.2a) explicit consent. In circumstances where we seek consent, we make sure that the consent is unambiguous and for one or more specified purposes, is given by an affirmative action and is recorded as the condition for processing. Examples of our processing include staff dietary requirements, and health information we receive from our staff who require a reasonable adjustment to access our site and services.

(9.2b) processing is necessary for the purposes of carrying out the obligations and exercising specific rights of the controller or of the data subject in the field of employment and social security and social protection law in so far as it is authorised by Union or Member State law or a collective agreement pursuant to Member State law providing for appropriate safeguards for the fundamental rights and the interests of the data subject.

(9.2c) where processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another natural person. An example of our processing would be using health information about a member of staff in a medical emergency.

(9.2f) for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. Examples of our processing include processing relating to any employment tribunal or other litigation.

(9.2g) reasons of substantial public interest. As a Trust, we are a publicly funded body and provide a safeguarding role to young and vulnerable people. Our processing of personal data in this context is for the purposes of substantial public interest and is necessary for the carrying out of our role. Examples of our processing include the information we seek or receive as part of investigating an allegation.

(9.2j) for archiving purposes in the public interest. The relevant purpose we rely on is Schedule 1 Part 1 paragraph 4 – archiving. An example of our processing is the transfers we make to the archives as set out in our Data Retention Policy.

We process criminal offence data under Article 10 of the UK GDPR.

Our Data Protection Policy highlights the conditions for processing in Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018 that we process Special Category and Criminal Offence data under.

Collecting Workforce Information

We collect personal information via application forms, but we will also collect information from you in a number of different ways. This could be through your personnel records, the Home Office, pension administrators, your doctors, from medical and occupational health professionals we engage, the DBS, your trade union, other employees, other professionals we may engage (e.g. to advise us generally), automated monitoring of our websites and other technical systems such as our computer networks and connections, CCTV and access control systems, remote access systems, email and instant messaging systems, intranet and internet facilities.

Workforce data is essential for the Trust's operational use. Whilst the majority of personal information you provide to us is mandatory, some of it is requested on a voluntary basis. In order to comply with UK GDPR, we will inform you at the point of collection, whether you are required to provide certain information to us or if you have a choice in this and we will tell you what you need to do if you do not want to share this information with us.

Storing Workforce Information

We hold data securely for the set amount of time shown in our data retention schedule. For more information on our data retention schedule and how we keep your data safe, please visit the Trust's website where the Data Retention Policy is readily available.

We are required to share information about our workforce members with the Secretary of State under section 7 of the Education (Supply of Information about the School Workforce) (England) Regulations 2007 and amendments.

Department for Education

The Department for Education (DfE) collects personal data from educational settings and local authorities via various statutory data collections.

We are required to share information about our school employees with the (DfE) under section 7 of the Education (Supply of Information about the School Workforce) (England) Regulations 2007 and amendments.

All data is transferred securely and held by DfE under a combination of software and hardware controls which meet the current government security policy framework.

For more information, please see 'How Government uses your data' section.

Suppliers and Service Providers

We are required to share certain information about our school workforce with suppliers and service providers (e.g. pensions information) to enable colleagues to undertake the legal responsibilities of their role.

The Golden Thread Alliance and its schools

We are required to share colleague data with the Trust to help streamline administrative processes such as payroll, People Management and professional development. This will ensure that all schools within the Trust can operate efficiently and effectively. The Trust has a legitimate interest in sharing this information.

Ofsted

Ofsted conducts inspections to assess the quality of education and care provided by schools and Trusts. Sharing colleague data help Ofsted evaluate colleague qualifications, training and performance, ensuring accountability and transparency. There are legal obligations that require the Trust to provide certain information which helps Ofsted ensure that schools are meeting statutory requirements and maintaining high standards.

Prospective Employers

Prospective employers often request information to verify candidates previous employment which can include job title, responsibilities and duration of employment. Providing a reference is common practice and allows prospective employers to assess the candidates performance, skills and suitability for the new role. There are also legal obligations related to providing accurate information during the hiring process. This includes ensuring that references and employment verifications are truthful and comply with relevant employment laws. The Trust has a legitimate interest in supporting colleagues' career progression and ensuring the accuracy of employment information.

Welfare Services, such as social services

Welfare services may require access to colleague data to ensure the safety and wellbeing of vulnerable individuals, including children and adults at risk. Effective collaboration between the Trust and welfare services ensures that the individuals receive comprehensive support and sharing data allows for coordinated efforts to address various needs, including health, social and educational support. The Trust have both a legal obligation and public interest to share this information.

Law Enforcement such as Police and HMRC

There are legal obligations that require the Trust to share certain information with law enforcement agencies. This includes compliance with laws related to crime prevention, tax regulations and employment standards.

Office for National Statistics

The Office for National Statistics collects data to produce national statistics and conduct research that informs public policy and decision-making. Sharing colleague data helps in creating accurate and comprehensive statistics on employment, workforce demographics and other relevant areas. Providing the data serves the public interest by contributing to the development of policies and programs that benefit society. Accurate data helps in understanding trends and addressing issues related to employment, education and social services.

Police CyberAlarm

Sharing data with Police CyberAlarm helps us to better understand and respond to cyber threats, thereby protecting sensitive information and ensure the security on our systems. The sharing of data can be justified under the Data Protection Act 2018 framework, as well as under GDPR.

Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO)

The requirement to share colleague data with the LADO is primarily to ensure the safety and welfare of children and vulnerable adults. Sharing data helps ensure that any allegations or concerns are properly investigated and managed, thereby protecting those at risk.

Training Providers

Sharing colleague data with training providers is essential for ensuring that colleagues receive the necessary training and development to perform their roles effectively.

Professional advisors such as lawyers and consultants

The Trust may need to share data with lawyers to comply with legal requirement, handle litigation or ensure compliance with regulations. When engaging with consultants or advisors, sharing data may be necessary to fulfill contractual obligations. Sharing data with professional advisors ensure that the Trust receives accurate and informed advice, which is crucial for making strategic decisions and managing risk effectively.

Support Services

Sharing colleague data with support services such as insurance, pensions, payroll and Microsoft is essential for the efficient operations for the Trust. Sharing data with support services ensures that colleagues receive their benefits, salaries and necessary IT support, which is essential for the smooth functioning of the Trust.

Gridserve

Sharing colleague data with Gridserve is essential for maintain and enhancing our IT infrastructure.

The Local Authority

Sharing colleague data with the Local Authority is often necessary for various regulatory, operational and safeguarding purposes. We have a duty to protect children and vulnerable adults. Local Authorities may require data for compliance with local regulations and policies. Collaborating with Local Authorities can help the Trust manage resources, plan services and response to local needs effectively.

Occupational Health

Sharing colleague data with Occupational Health is essential for managing the health and wellbeing of colleagues. Sharing data with Occupational Health helps fulfil the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 duty by identifying and managing health risks. Sharing the data ensures that colleagues receive the necessary health support, which benefits both the individual and the Trust.

DBS

Sharing data with the DBS ensure that the Trust can verify the suitability of our employees, thereby protecting vulnerable individuals and maintaining a safe working environment.

Recruitment and supply agencies

Sharing colleague data with recruitment and supply agencies is essential for managing staffing needs and ensuring that the right candidates are placed in appropriate roles. When engaging recruitment and supply agencies, sharing data is necessary to fulfill the terms of the contract. The Trust may share data with these agencies to ensure efficient recruitment processes and filling vacancies with suitable candidates.

PHSC

We may share your data with PHSC in order for them, to carry out their reviews to identify and mitigate potential risks in the workplace, as well as implementing measures to maintain a safe working environment for colleagues. In some cases, we may ask for colleagues to consent to the data being shared.

Requesting Access to Your Personal Data

The UK-GDPR gives you certain rights about how your information is collected and used. To make a request for your personal information, contact Claire Misy, Claire.misy@golden-thread.org.

You also have the following rights:

- the right to be informed about the collection and use of your personal data – this is called ‘right to be informed’.
- the right to ask us for copies of personal information we have about you – this is called ‘right of access’, this is also known as a subject access request, data subject access request or right of access request.
- the right to ask us to change any information you think is not accurate or complete – this is called ‘right to rectification’.
- the right to ask us to delete your personal information – this is called ‘right to erasure’
- the right to ask us to stop using your information – this is called ‘right to restriction of processing’.
- the ‘right to object to processing’ of your information, in certain circumstances
- rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling.
- the right to withdraw consent at any time (where relevant).
- the right to complain to the Information Commissioner if you feel we have not used your information in the right way.

There are legitimate reasons why we may refuse your information rights request, which depends on why we are processing it. For example, some rights will not apply:

- right to erasure does not apply when the lawful basis for processing is legal obligation or public task.
- right to portability does not apply when the lawful basis for processing is legal obligation, vital interests, public task or legitimate interests.
- right to object does not apply when the lawful basis for processing is contract, legal obligation or vital interests. And if the lawful basis is consent, you don't have the right to object, but you have the right to withdraw consent.

If you have a concern about the way we are collecting or using your personal data, you should raise your concern with us in the first instance or directly to the Information Commissioner's Office at raise a concern with ICO.

Alternatively, you can contact our Data Protection Officer which is SchoolPro TLC Ltd via DPO@schoolpro.uk.

For further information on how to request access to personal information held centrally by the Department for Education (DfE), please see the 'How Government uses your data' section of this notice.

Withdrawal of Consent and the Right to Lodge a Complaint

Where we are processing your personal data with your consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent. If you change your mind, or you are unhappy with our use of your personal data, please let us know by contacting Claire Misy, Chief Operating Officer, Claire.misy@golden-thread.org.

How Government Uses Your Data

The workforce data that we lawfully share with the DfE through data collections:

- informs departmental policy on pay and the monitoring of the effectiveness and diversity of the school workforce
- links to school/academy funding and expenditure
- supports 'longer term' research and monitoring of educational policy

Data Collection Requirements

To find out more about the data collection requirements placed on us by the Department for Education including the data that we share with them, go to <https://www.gov.uk/education/data-collection-and-censuses-for-schools>.

Sharing by the Department

The Department may share information about academy employees with third parties who promote the education or well-being of children or the effective deployment of school/academy staff in England by:

- conducting research or analysis
- producing statistics
- providing information, advice or guidance.

The Department has robust processes in place to ensure that the confidentiality of personal data is maintained and there are stringent controls in place regarding access to it and its use. Decisions on whether DfE releases personal data to third parties are subject to a strict approval process and based on a detailed assessment of:

- who is requesting the data
- the purpose for which it is required
- the level and sensitivity of data requested; and
- the arrangements in place to securely store and handle the data

To be granted access to school workforce information, organisations must comply with its strict terms and conditions covering the confidentiality and handling of the data, security arrangements and retention and use of the data.

How to Find Out What Personal Information DfE Hold About You

Under the terms of the Data Protection Act 2018, you're entitled to ask the Department:

- if they are processing your personal data
- for a description of the data they hold about you
- the reasons they're holding it and any recipient it may be disclosed to
- for a copy of your personal data and any details of its source

If you want to see the personal data held about you by the Department, you should make a 'subject access request'. Further information on how to do this can be found within the Department's personal information charter that is published at the address below:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/department-for-education/about/personal-information-charter>
